"the little paper"

VOLUME 8 NUMBER 24

Gone Fishin'

Once again, the incredibly large, hard-working staff of "the little paper" is taking its annual "issue off" for a little R&R. Watch for our next issue on July 21.

McLenon Resigns

Norman McLenon, chairman of the City of Romulus Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA), tendered his resignation, effective immediately, at the end of the June 7 BZA meeting. McLenon explained to those in attendance that he was resigning for personal reasons.

Among those expressing their regret at McLenon's need to resign was former Romulus City Councilman and fellow BZA member "Junior" Block. "Norm was one of the best chairmen that I ever had the pleasure to serve under," said Block. "He'll truly be missed."

It is, as yet, unclear as to who will replace McLenon on the Board of Zoning Appeals, since both Mary Collins and Brooker Edwards, the BZA's current alternates, have announced their plans to seek a City Council seat this fall, and it is a conflict of interest (and therefore illegal) for a person to be a member of the City Council and the BZA at the same time.

Council may place more urgency than usual on filling the post because the BZA is scheduled to hear a proposal from Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc. (EDS), on Wednesday, July 5. The company is expected to outline a plan that would permit the operation of its deep injection well to dispose of nonhazardous wastes only, calling for wastes to be received at a facility on Northline Road (a property which is currently zoned M2, and located in an area that is already home to facilities which deal with large quantities of hazardous, concentrated chemicals), then delivered to the already-constructed injection well on their Wahrman Road property (zoned M1) via an underground pipeline that would run under EDS and CSX Railroad property, only. It should be noted that such a plan would also require the approval of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Primary Will Trim List of Council Hopefuls

Mary Ann Banks

By Kristi Stephens

A September 12 primary election has been scheduled to allow Romulus voters to eliminate one of the 15 candidates running for City Council this fall. Such primaries are held when the total number of candidates for an office is more than twice the number of seats available.

Competing for the 14 available spots on the City Council portion of the general-election ballot this November will be Steven Bossidis, Mary Collins, William Crova, Brooker Edwards, Jeaunine Wafer-Frison, Randolph Gear (incumbent), Tony Heimberger, Stanley Kreft, Ellis Pennington (incumbent), Michael Prybyla (incumbent), Jimmie Raspberry (incumbent), Deborah Romak, John Ryznar, Gwendolyn Sibert, and William Wadsworth (incumbent). Council's remaining two members, Mary Ann Banks and Noah P. Bergeron, will not seek reelection for the 1995–1997 term.

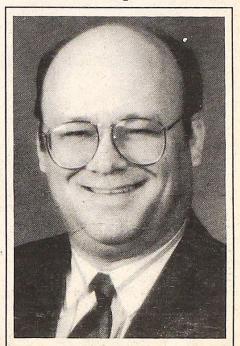

"I have really enjoyed serving my community as Mayor Pro Tem of the City Council," Banks told The Romulus News, "but I have decided not to run again. Recent health problems have made it difficult for me to keep up with the demands of the job and to fulfill the obligation that has been entrusted to me.

"It was a tough decision to make," she continued. "I wrestled with it for a long time because I know I'll miss the challenge and satisfaction of being involved, and I don't want to let anyone down, but I think I'm doing what's best for both me and my city."

Bergeron, who says he will probably issue a more detailed statement at a later date, spoke only of his deep appreciation for the many people who have given him their continued support.

Other Local Elected Offices

Expectations that Mayor Beverly McAnally might also be involved in a primary showdown proved ill founded.

Noah "Pete" Bergeron

Of the several rivals rumored to be considering a shot at the City's chief administrative position (including ex-City Councilman Barry Baumann, who was serious enough to draw the necessary petitions from the Clerk's office before undergoing an apparent change of heart), only former Mayor William Oakley actually filed for candidacy.

Unopposed in their bids for the offices of clerk and treasurer, respectively, are incumbents Linda Choate and James Napiorkowski. □

Celebrating, Good Times Planned for July 4th Weekend

There'll be plenty for everyone to enjoy during the upcoming Fourth of July weekend, thanks to a multitude of activities and events planned by the recently formed Romulus Hometown Celebration Committee.

When Mayor Beverly McAnally asked the community to pull together and plan a variety of things to do during the holiday, she received an enthusiastic response which culminated in the organization of a number of FREE activities that combine a celebration of Independence Day and our city's twenty-fifth anniversary with some good, old-fashioned fun.

On Saturday, July 1, the weekend will kick off with a concert performed by Detroit's Allan Barnes Group, a progressive, upbeat jazz band whose music features vocals and slick instrumentals. This event, sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department, will be held at Romulus Historic Park (behind the Post Office on Hunt Street) beginning at 7:30 p.m. Residents are encouraged to bring lawn chairs, blankets, and picnic goodies with them when they come out for this two-hour concert.

Sunday's celebration will be a giant "silver anniversary" celebration honoring the City of Romulus, including an "Art in the Park" extravaganza, the debut of the Romulus Community Symphony Orchestra, and a historic cars exhibit.

"Art in the Park," to be hosted by the Romulus Arts Council, will feature a display/sale of original arts and crafts, according to president Susan Watts. Vice-president Maria Lambert says that the event will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Historic Park.

Just around the corner will be "Cruisin'," an exhibition of old cars (featuring vintage autos from 1972 and before) to be displayed at Senior Citizens Park behind the Recreation building from 12 to 6 p.m. Organizing the program is Romulus resident Anna Miller.

Sunday's culminating event will be a special birthday salute/ceremony at Romulus Historic Park to celebrate our hometown's twenty-fifth anniversary. A short program organized by City Clerk Linda Choate will take place first; then, as at any good birthday party, cake and ice cream (contributed by the senior citizens of Romulus under the direction of Senior Citizens Coordinator Marilyn Hoffer) will be served to all in attendance. The newly formed Romulus Community Symphony Orchestra will be making its first appearance, too. Conductor Edouard Kesner promises a short, snappy potpourri of musical delights.

Kingsley House Moved

The Samuel R. Kingsley house, donated to the City of Romulus by Eugene and Sylvia Perecki, was moved from its original Pullen's Corners site to Romulus Historic Park on Wednesday, June 21.

By Kristi Stephens

The historic structure known as the Samuel R. Kingsley House was moved to Romulus Historic Park on Wednesday, July 21, 1995 – 140 years after Kingsley bought the property on which his house was eventually built.

During their years at Pullen's Corners (as the area around their home was called), the Kingsley family – consisting of Samuel Sr., his wife Polly, and their eight children – played an instrumental role in the settlement of Romulus. Samuel was in the mercantile business for about 15 years, and served as postmaster for 19 years. His house, which was sold in 1880 to his son, Samuel R. Kingsley Jr., remained in the Kingsley family until 1901.

It was in March of 1993 that the Kingsley house was donated to the City of Romulus by its most recent owners, Eugene and Sylvia Perecki. Two and a half years later—after prodigious efforts of research, paperwork, and planning by the numerous people and agencies involved in the project—the Romulus Historical Commission was able to obtain Block Grant funds to move the structure from its original location (on the north side of Huron River Drive, just west of Five Points) to its new home at Romulus Historic Park on Hunt Street.

One of the individuals involved in relocating the Kingsley house was Alford Edenton. The Macon, Tennessee native was born in 1923 and moved to Michigan 20 years later. Edenton first developed an interest in moving houses in August of 1945, when he began working for house-mover C.P. Myers; his employment with Myers continued until 1972. Edenton has also worked for C.J. House-movers in Ohio and the J.D. Poder Company in Michigan. Over the course of his career, Edenton has relocated buildings for Greenfield Village. the Dearborn Inn, and various churches, among others. He'll celebrate 50 years of work in his chosen craft this August.

For the past eight years, Edenton has worked in partnership with John Westerman, who moved Romulus' one-room schoolhouse (now the Romulus Historic Museum) to its present Romulus Historic Park site in 1986. Westerman began moving houses in the late 1970s, and often works with his son on house-moving projects.

Because the Kingsley house's particular style of architecture (including the rarely seen feature of symmetrical, indented porches) is so unusual, the Romulus Historical Society is hoping that the house can be restored to its original Victorian style. To raise funds for the endeavor, the Society is soliciting donations from interested individuals and businesses. Those who donate $500 or more toward Historic Park renovation projects will have their name inscribed on a plaque which will be on permanent display at the site.

Lansing Update

For the week of June 19, 1995

By State Representative Greg Pitoniak House Completes Budget and Goes on Summer Break

The Legislature completed work on its $28-billion 1995-1996 budget last Friday after a 20-hour marathon session in which the House fended off attacks for one more year on revenue sharing and arts aid to Detroit; attempted to fulfill a pledge for Statewide court funding; and allotted almost $19 million more to universities. Democratic Leader Curtis Hertel (D-Detroit) praised his own caucus for influencing the budgetary process, while leveling criticism at Republicans for the agenda that the majority party pursued and the quickness with which the Republicans completed the budget process.

Helmet Law Stands "As Is"

A bill that would repeal the State's law requiring motorcyclists to wear crash helmets failed to attract enough votes for passage, despite efforts to firm up the measure with provisions to place medical insurance responsibilities on riders who choose not to wear a helmet. One day after thousands of motorcyclists showed up at the capital to demonstrate infavor of HB 4268, lawmakers engaged in a debate that pitted advocates of "personal freedom" against those who asserted that consumers would have to pay the cost of escalating insurance premiums as the number of fatalities and injuries would increase. One House leader said it was unlikely that the bill would be taken up again in the fall. Dry Weather Makes Fire Danger High

Wildlife officials are warning everyone to be extremely careful with all outdoor fires in the near future. The recent hot, dry weather is creating conditions in which wildfires can easily start.
Conditions are very dry, and green vegetation has very little moisture content and will burn readily. Over the past two weeks, firefighters have experienced many fires that have been unusually large for this time of year and difficult to suppress.

Keep campfires small, and clear away surrounding vegetation before building your fire. Be sure that the fire is completely extinguished with plenty of water before leaving it. Drown everything with water, including the undersides of unburned pieces. Stir and continue to wet everything until cold. Covering the fire with soil alone will not extinguish it. Water MUST be used. Should State Fairgrounds Be Turned into Industrial Park?

The manager of the Michigan State Fair voiced his opposition to turning the fairgrounds of the Nation's oldest state fair into a 200-acre industrial park.

The annual Michigan State Fairruns from August 22 through Labor Day, featuring everything from pigraces to nightly concerts. Corporate sponsorships are doing well and, after last year's wall-to-wall renovations, the fairgrounds are in great condition. Last year's attendance doubled to nearly 400,000. This year, the fair is expected to pay off its deficit, and it is predicted that the fair will turn a profit in 1996. The fair began in 1849. Michigan Wines Score Big at an International Wine Judging Michigan wines won big in the 1995 International Tasters Guild Wine Judging – especially two State wines that shared Double Gold status with wines from Australia, Italy, Spain, and Portugal. The 48 Double Gold Medal winners included Michigan's Fenn Valley Vineyards Classic Reserve and St. Julian Solera Cream Sherry.

A total of 1018 wines from 17 states and 15 countries entered the prestigious wine judging, which has been sponsored by the International Tasters Guild since 1988. Four Michigan wines earned Gold Medals, 17 earned Silver Medals, and 11 earned Bronze Medals.

Amendment Restores Funding for Local Governments

An amendment proposed by Representative Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor) and passed by the House during early morning session on Friday, June 16, means that cities, counties, and townships may receive $25 million more in local revenue-sharing, according to Pitoniak. The amendment to Senate Bill 562, the Management and Budget Act which contains the lapsed fund budget, received strong bipartisan support, passing 81 (yes) to 17 (no). Lapsed funds are previously appropriated dollars that, due to a change in circumstances, are not spent. Lapsed appropriations typically are earmarked for deposit into the Budget Stabilization Fund.

"The House Fiscal Agency estimates that approximately $50 to $60 million in General Fund monies will likely lapse next fiscal year, " stated Pitoniak. "Higher education will be receiving the first $27 million in lapsed funds. Therefore, those lapsed funds which would normally go to the Budget Stabilization Fund would be available for distribution to local governments."

The Legislature has now adopted the Governor's recommendation for the 1995-1996 budget, which came up $81 million short in the appropriation for revenue-sharing. This was the fifth consecutive year that the Governor recommended reducing revenue-sharing funds, which local governments use for basic services such as police and fire protection and road repairs.

The Governor and the Legislature are required to fund revenue-sharing based on a formula found in State law. Pitoniak explained, "This year, as in recent years, the Governors underfunded revenue-sharing, keeping local tax dollars in Lansing for State purposes. 'Passing the buck' will force local governments either to reduce essential services, like police and fire protection, or raise local taxes even higher.

"The Governor has criticized the Federal government for 'unfunded mandates,' which are Federal requirements passed down to states without the funding to pay for them. However, by underfunding State/local revenuesharing, the Governor has opted to pass unfunded mandates from the State to the local level. Regardless of where the unfunded mandates originate, taxpayers suffer the same fate: higher taxes and reductions in service," he said.

"While this amendment may be extremely helpful to local governments, it is not likely to achieve full funding under the revenue-sharing formula."

10 Area Youths Win Passes to Franzen Bros. Circus

Congratulations to the 10 youngsters who won a family pass (good for up to two adults and four children) to the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Franzen Bros. Circus, which will come to Romulus on Monday, June 26. The winners earned their tickets by being the 10 children to come closest to guessing Okha the Elephant's true weight of 7,158 pounds in a contest sponsored by the Chamber and The Romulus News.

Ticket winners were: Chelsea Armstrong, Ashley Banks, Carolann Banks, Steven Fisher, Marco Little, Dustin A. Riordan, Robert Tomlinson Jr., Jessica Trahey, Jamie Usher, and Ashley Wagle.

Advance tickets for either of the Circus' two show times (4:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.), at a discount price of $5, will be available for sale through Sunday, June 25, at several locations throughout Romulus (see advertisement on page 4). Advance tickets will not be available on the day of the show. Regular-price tickets ($7 each) will be available at the Circus. All children ages two and under will be admitted free of charge.

The Chamber urges anyone who plans to attend to purchase advance tickets rather than wait until Monday. Since the Chamber gets a greater percentage of the proceeds from advance sales, buying advance tickets offers the double benefit of saving you money and raising funds for a variety of community projects sponsored by the Chamber.

Come out and make a day of it! The circus trucks will begin to arrive at Senior Citizens Park (located near the Recreation building on Bibbins) at around 8 a.m. on the day of the show, and the spectacle of Okha the elephant pulling the massive tent poles to raise the tent canvas high into the air is a performance in itself. There will also be a petting zoo, which will open at 3:30 p.m. (admission is $1), and pony and elephant rides ($2 each). In addition, the Romulus Fire Department will have one of its trucks on display for the children to examine. A concession stand will serve a variety of refreshments.

Celebrate a Safe July 4th: Observe Fireworks Laws

By Dorothy Nesler

As we approach our nation's 219th birthday, The Romulus News would like to remind everyone of the State ordinance which defines both legal and illegal fireworks. Illegal fireworks found in the City of Romulus will be confiscated, held for evidence, and destroyed at a later date.

Remember: The purpose of this law is not to hinder your Independence Day celebration, but to make sure that your holiday isn't spoiled by an accident involving dangerous, illegal fireworks.

Section 750.243a (1a) of the Michigan Penal Code (Act 328 of 1931) defines "fireworks" as "...a device made from explosive or flammable compositions used primarily for the purpose of producing a visible display or audible effect, or both, by combustion, deflagration, or detonation..." This definition includes both Class B fireworks, which are illegal, and Class C fireworks, which are legal.

The legal Class C fireworks consist of "... toy smoke devices, toy caps containing not more than .25 grains of explosive mixture, toy propellant devices, cigarette loads, trick matches, trick noise makers, smoke candles, smoke pots, smoke grenades, smoke signals, hand signal devices, Very signal cartridges, sparklers, explosive auto alarms, and other similar devices." [Sec. 750.243a (1c)]

Illegal, Class B fireworks are "...
toy torpedoes, railway torpedoes, firecrackers or salutes that do not qualify as Class C fireworks, exhibition display pieces, aeroplane flares, illuminating projectiles, incendiary projectiles, incendiary grenades, smoke projectiles or bombs containing expelling charges but without bursting charges, flash powders in inner units not exceeding 2 ounces each, flash sheets in interior packages, flash powder or spreader cartridges containing not more than 72 grains of flash powder each, and other similar devices." [Sec. 750.243a (1b)]

Other illegal items include a blank cartridge, blank cartridge pistol, toy cannon, toy cane, or toy gun in which explosives are used; an unmanned balloon which requires fire underneath to propel it and is not moored to the ground while aloft; and firecrackers, torpedoes, skyrockets, roman candles, daygo bombs, bottle rockets, whistling chasers, rockets on sticks, or other fireworks that are of similar construction.

Please use safety sense, and enjoy a safe, happy holiday! □

Fireworks. Parades. Barbecues. Fun. It's all part of a grand tradition that celebrates the birth of this great nation. But unfortunately, so is alcohol.

& driving:

One American Tradition You Can Live Without

Every year thousands of holiday revellers perish or are injured in alcoholrelated accidents all across America's highways. And that's the kind of legacy that nobody would actively choose to be a part of. Yet each time you drink and get behind the wheel of a car, you're taking a chance with your life, the life of your passengers or that of an innocent bystander.

This year, as we celebrate our freedom and independence, exercise yours by choosing wisely. Please don't drink and drive.

Have a Safe, Sensational 4th of July But Please . . .

Don't Drink and Drive!

Sincerely, Mayor Beverly McAnally

GOOD TIMES PLANNED FOR JULY 4 WEEKEND

On Monday, the newly renovated Romulus City Hall and Romulus Public Library will showcase their fresh digs with an open house, organized by City Treasurer James Napiorkowski and Librarian Diane Hazen. A short ceremony commemorating the new facilities will take place at 10 a.m. at the City Hall complex. Citizens are invited to browse through both facilities during the day.

The Romulus Hometown Parade will begin at 6 p.m. on Monday. Its route will proceed west on Goddard from City Hall. The parade is being coordinated by Romulus Community and Economic Development Director Jane Downing, who is also organizing a children's bike decorating contest that's scheduled to take place at the City Hall complex at 4:30 p.m.

And finally, to make this Fourth of July the most memorable ever, numerous events for the entire family have been planned for throughout the day. Elmer Johnson Park will be the center of all the fun from early morning until after dark.

The day will begin with a prayer ceremony conducted by the Reverend Brad Lewis with assistance from Romulus resident Gwen Sibert. This nondenominational service will focus on community togetherness and tolerance. Other clergy affiliated with Romulus churches will also take part.

During the day, a number of activities will be featured. The Kiwanis Club, under the guidance of Fred Hay, will host a pancake breakfast starting at 9:30 a.m. All funds raised from the breakfast will go to the Romulus Historical Commission.
